FOREWORD

Greek wine making traditions are some of the oldest in the world, dating back to 3,000 BC.

Wine tells the story of its home and with over 150 inhabited islands featuring unique terroirs, the fruit harvested from these landscapes are all individually unique. To taste these wines is to get closer to the life on these islands; to understand the nuances in climate, topography, soil, and farming practices which manifest in each glass.

From the oceanic salinity of Moschofilero, to the aromatic herbal interplay in the rare Dafni variety, to rich tapestry of Xinomavro, it's easy to get lost in contemplation of what to experience with your favourite dish. If you are experienced in Greek wine, you will find yourself at home. If you haven't enjoyed these wines yet, we offer a humble approach to guide you and make simple connections to your palate and preference. Every wine selected for our list is here because we feel it has a unique story to tell - none of these selections are accidental.

These winemakers are passionate artists with intention behind everything they express in a glass. We are here to share their stories in the ever-evolving world of winemaking.
